²The Accident & Sickness Insurance Premium is estimated; it has not been finalized.

The standard academic year includes the Fall and Spring Semesters. Students on co-op are not charged tuition or fees for that particular semester and will only be charged room and board if they live on campus while they work.

Please note: There is no additional cost for access services (interpreting, real-time captioning and notetaking).

II. Summer Vestibule Program & RIT Orientation

Freshman students accepted into associate degree programs are required to enroll in NTID's orientation, Summer Vestibule Program (SVP). SVP is held August 12-August 25, 2018. Dates for the 2019-2020 academic year will be determined in the spring of 2019. More information is available by visiting: www.ntid.rit.edu/svp

Charges for SVP 2018-2019 are not included in the fall semester rates on page 2.

SVP program costs:	Tuition	$1,520
	Room	$ 262
	Board	$ 259

All new bachelor- and associate-level students are required to participate in RIT's Orientation Program. NTID-supported baccalaureate students also participate in the NTID Support Service Orientation (NSSO) on Monday, August 20. There is no additional cost for the NSSO program.

RIT Orientation cost: $225

III. New Signers Program

New Signers Program is an optional program. It is a one-credit, two-week immersion program offered to newly accepted deaf and hard-of-hearing students who have little or no prior skills in American Sign Language. NSP is held July 29-August 11, 2018. Dates for the 2019-2020 academic year will be determined in the spring of 2019. Students will be introduced to basic sign skills, Deaf culture and deaf awareness. Cost includes tuition, room, board, field trips and program expense. More information is available by visiting: www.ntid.rit.edu/nsp

NSP program cost: $700

IV. How to Purchase Your Books

Barnes & Noble is RIT's official campus bookstore. It is located on campus at Park Point. Students schedule classes in our Student Information System, print their schedule and book list corresponding to their selected class schedule and then purchase the books and supplies at the local store. Some students prefer to order from alternative sources.

In order to ensure that you are purchasing the books your professors want you to have for your courses, we recommend that you attend class before buying your books.

V. Health Insurance

RIT requires all students to have adequate medical insurance. This requirement enables access to health care when medical emergencies arise that require services provided outside of RIT's Student Health Center. If a student does not have coverage, this requirement may be satisfied by enrolling in RIT's Aetna Student Health Insurance. Students opting to enroll in the RIT offered Student Health Insurance Plan for 2018-19 should enroll through University Health Plans no later than September 30, 2018.

More information is obtained by visiting www.universityhealthplans.com

Annual cost of coverage is estimate: $1,850

VI. NTID Student Services

Jonathan Holmes is the NTID International Student Liaison. His office is located in Residence Hall C, room A281. The Center for International Educational Outreach (IEO) is responsible for providing support to international deaf and hard-of-hearing students during their time at RIT/NTID. This office is a resource for and coordinates with other departments on campus to address specific student academic and financial issues. The goal of IEO is to promote a positive academic experience and support the success of all NTID international students. Email him at jnhnca@rit.edu, 585-475-6271 (V) or 585-445-6862 (VP).

Barbara Polle is located in the Lyndon Baines Johnson Hall, room 2620. She is available to help all NTID supported students with questions and concerns explaining policies and processes, assist with billing questions, access to Student Information System and eServices, housing or meal plan questions. Email her at BLPNOD@RIT.EDU, call 585-286-5516 (VP), or 585-475-6863 (V).

VII. Student Financial Services

The Student Financial Services Office of RIT is responsible for maintaining students' accounts and preparing semester bills related to fixed charges. The office is located in University Service Center on the first floor. To contact them, email ASKSFS@RIT.EDU, 585-475-6186 (V), or fax 585-475-5307.
